Franny Lou's Porch:

"This cafe goes well beyond organic coffee and baked goods (of which it has plenty) and positions itself as a space for community activism and cultural awareness. The business name is the combination of the names of two influential black women from the Civil Rights movement: Fannie Lou Hamer and Frances E.W. Harper. Owner Blew MaryWillow Kind, her staff and the community they've built, carry on these women's work by creating a place where people can "connect, rest, and mobilize."
